

DEPARTMENT OF ANTHROPOLOGY
ANTH 303 ANTHROPOLOGICAL THEORY
COURSE OUTLINE, FALL 2018

I would like to begin by acknowledging that we are in Mi'kma'ki, the ancestral and unceded territory of the Mi'kmaq People. This territory is covered by the "Treaties of Peace and Friendship" which Mi'kmaq and Wolastoqiyik (Maliseet) Peoples first signed with the British Crown in 1725. The treaties did not deal with surrender of lands and resources but in fact recognized Mi'kmaq and Wolastoqiyik (Maliseet) title and established the rules for what was to be an ongoing relationship between nations.

COURSE DESCRIPTION: This seminar course will give students an understanding of why and how theory is used. It will present the major trends in anthropological theory over the history of the discipline, including approaches such as historical particularism, structural functionalism, Marxist anthropology, and post-modernism among others. Students will get practice applying theories.

INSTRUCTOR: Dr. Susan Vincent [contact information: telephone: 867-5281; email: svincent@stfx.ca; office: JBB 335E]

RE TESTS, ASSIGNMENTS AND CLASS CONDUCT: the following rules have been designed to ensure fairness to all students, to facilitate your academic success, and to allow me to fulfill my responsibilities.

1. Assignment dates are fixed and cannot be changed.
2. Assignments must be submitted in HARD COPY. Electronic submissions will NOT be accepted.
3. Written assignments are due at the beginning of class on the day specified. I WILL NOT ACCEPT LATE PAPERS. If you have a legitimate reason for missing an assignment or test, inform me AS SOON AS POSSIBLE, preferably ahead of time. I do not accept papers after I have returned those already submitted; in this situation you will be given an alternate assignment. Similarly, if you miss the test, you will be given an alternate assignment. Papers handed in after the last day of the term in which they are due will receive a mark of zero.
4. You are required to keep a copy of assignments when you hand them in. Keep the returned marked assignment until the end of the course.
5. PLAGIARISM AND CHEATING WILL NOT BE TOLERATED: Suspected cases of plagiarism will be reported to the appropriate authorities and proven cases will result in a mark of zero for the assignment. See the University's policy on plagiarism and cheating (see <http://www2.mystfx.ca/registrars-office/academic-integrity>). Not intending to plagiarise is not a legitimate excuse. Know what is included in the definition and ensure that the paper you submit meets acceptable academic standards according to the policy. When in doubt, consult with me.

6. You are expected to attend all classes and are responsible for all in-class discussion and assigned material. IF YOU MISS THREE CLASSES OR MORE, WHETHER FOR ILLNESS OR FOR ANY OTHER REASON, YOUR ABILITY TO PASS WILL BE SEVERELY COMPROMISED. At the very least, make sure you get notes from a classmate.
7. Technology in the Classroom Policy: Cell phone use in class, unless the phone is being used explicitly for research or learning purposes permitted by the instructor, distracts from the learning of the student using the cell phone, the other students and inhibits the instructor's teaching. Therefore, cell phone use in class is prohibited unless the instructor asks that students use their cell phones for a specific exercise. Students may use computers or tablets in class to take notes. Students who are using computers or tablets for other purposes will be asked to close them.
8. Class Materials Copyright Notification: The materials from Department of Anthropology courses, including but not limited to the course syllabus, class notes or PowerPoint presentations provided by the instructor, lectures, or assignments and other materials authored by the instructor, are the property of the instructor, unless stated otherwise by the instructor. Sharing, posting or selling this material to third parties on-line or otherwise (for instance, through on-line sites or on social media sites) for distribution without permission is subject to Canadian Copyright law and is strictly prohibited. Students are required to request permission to record lectures or take images of any part thereof.
For more information, please visit the StFX copyright guide:
http://sites.stfx.ca/library/campus_copyright
9. My responsibility is to maintain the academic standards of St Francis Xavier University as well as of my discipline as I transmit knowledge about the course subject to the students and foster the development of critical academic reading, researching, analytical and writing skills. I will endeavour to do this in a way that recognizes that students have other demands on their time, and within the constraints presented by my other teaching, administrative and research duties. I will return marked assignments as quickly as I can and am happy to meet with students to discuss the course.

AS PER DEPARTMENT POLICY, STUDENTS WILL DEVELOP THE FOLLOWING SKILLS IN THIS COURSE:

- develop the critical ability to apply anthropological theory to relevant material
- identify material that is relevant as evidence in the context of the course and the discipline
- build an understanding of anthropological methods such that students can evaluate the appropriateness of different standard methods for solving problems;
- students should be able to justify the use of specific methods
- an ability to critique published research on the basis of its methodology and its analysis
- an ability to review, present and critically evaluate a range of anthropological and other information to:

- a) frame an appropriate question for the purpose of solving a problem;
 - b) develop a clear hypothesis in response to the question;
 - c) articulate a sound and advanced theoretical framework to analyse the information in support of the argument;
 - d) conduct research to generate or locate relevant information;
 - e) critically review and analyse information from multiple qualitative or quantitative data sets;
 - f) present the argument in a clear written format
- an ability to communicate information, arguments, and analyses accurately and reliably, orally and in writing to a range of audiences.

EQUITABLE LEARNING ENVIRONMENT

Everyone learns more effectively in a respectful, safe and equitable learning environment, free from discrimination and harassment. I invite you to work with me to create a classroom space—both real and virtual—that fosters and promotes values of human dignity, equity, non-discrimination and respect for diversity. These values and practices are in accord with the StFX Discrimination and Harassment Policy which can be found at <http://sites.stfx.ca/equity/>.

Please feel free to talk to me about your questions or concerns about equity in our classroom or in the StFX community in general. If I cannot answer your questions or help you address your concerns, I encourage you to talk to the Chair of the Department of Anthropology (Dr. L.J. McMillan, ljmcmill@stfx.ca), or the Human Rights and Equity Advisor (Megan Fogarty, mfogarty@stfx.ca).

Nov. 28: Course conclusion

DESCRIPTION OF TESTS AND ASSIGNMENTS:

Test and Exam: The test and exam will be composed of short answer questions and essay questions.

Objective: To test your knowledge of the material presented to date and your ability to present your knowledge and critical analysis of it in written form.

Essay proposal, due October 17: This proposal outlines your intended topic and argument, as well as your main sources. Include:

- a) a thesis statement (one sentence of no more than 35 words stating what you will argue in your paper). It should take the form “In this paper I argue that [position] because” Your position will be some statement about whether you think the theory you are evaluating is good or bad, and the “because” will outline the reasons for your position. I will be looking to see that the argument gives me an idea of how you will structure your paper.
- b) a list of the major sources that you plan to use in your essay. Note that you must use the proper bibliographic form for your list of sources.

Objective: to articulate the topic; to develop a draft of the argument, which suggests a strategy for writing the paper; and to locate appropriate sources to assist you in the analysis.

Essay, due November 21: The paper should be 10 to 12 pages in length (double-spaced, one inch margins on all sides; 10 or 12 characters per inch; indent the first line of paragraphs rather than leaving extra spaces between paragraphs).

Use the essay format outline at <http://stfx.libguides.com/content.php?pid=53968&sid=395159>, with the AAA style of referencing. See http://sites.stfx.ca/anthropology/writing_and_presentation_guide for further resources on writing. You may NOT use more than three quotations, none of which may be more than 35 words. You MUST provide the page number from the source whenever you use information or ideas from a specific page in the source.

Topic: You can choose your own topic, but here are some suggestions to get started:

1. This is especially recommended to honours students. Choose a theorist that you think you might use in your thesis, and explore how this framework is applied in several anthropological works. Your argument will be based on a critical appreciation of this framework. Thus, if you were to choose Bourdieu, you might look at articles in the journal Ethnography, especially between 2000 and 2008, choosing some of the articles that use Bourdieuan ideas.
2. Analyse the course video, along with your own job interview experience, using two theories from the course (not the one on which you do your presentation). Critically evaluate the pros and cons of each analysis.

Alternatively, you could analyse both the main course video and an additional one (there are many on the internet, but look for one that is about 5 to 10 minutes in length) with one theory (again, not the one on which you do your presentation) to see if the pros and cons of the analysis hold up across a variety of material.

Objectives: This assignment builds critical reading, analytical and writing skills. The main objective is to give you experience with applying and critically evaluating theoretical concepts and frameworks. You will be marked on whether you have presented a clear, appropriate essay that presents and supports an argument about the material, following the guidelines. You should demonstrate good knowledge and critical analytical skills that show you understand and can apply anthropological theory.

Presentation: For the presentation you will develop a list of five keywords on the theorist you choose. These keywords will be central concepts in the theory. You will also present a definition of the keyword. Designation of the day and theorist you are responsible for will be scheduled through class discussion on Sep. 17. Choose from the following list: Radcliffe-Brown; Boas; Steward; Goffman; Butler; Geertz; Bourdieu; Foucault. Please have your preferences decided by September 17 as no more than two people can present on a each theorist.

The presentation should be 5 to 10 minutes in length. You may do research beyond the course reading to develop your keywords. This University of Arizona student generated page can be of use, for example: <http://anthropology.ua.edu/cultures/cultures.php>. The resulting list should help encapsulate the main points of the theory to assist with understanding and studying.
